Neil Gordon,

The information below is in response to your letter of June 2, 2008, to Booz Allen Hamilton, Inc.

Regards,

Booz Allen was one of several consulting firms that worked with the US Government to address concerns with respect to its travel rebate accounting and, as part of this process, reached a settlement with the US Government in this matter in December 2005 with no admission of liability or wrongdoing. The firm worked with its travel services providers to modify its travel rebate procedures, and converted from receiving volume discounts on the back end of travel to a new methodology of receiving front-end discounts.
